“Exhibiting at conferences and shows like this, where luminaries from every corner of the industry come together to innovate new strategies and best practices we can all benefit from, is always a huge priority and privilege for us,” said Chet Heughan, senior sales director at AppOne. “There’s simply no substitute for that face-to-face interaction in collaborating with and educating conference attendees on the value The AppOne Platform can deliver for lenders and dealers alike.”

The AppOne Platform is a proprietary, SaaS-based solution that streamlines and automates the traditional tasks associated with managing a network of dealer relationships, submitting an indirect loan application and creating a complete, compliant funding package consistent with the lender’s approval.

The centralized, web-based solution gives dealers the ability to accept an on-line credit application from a consumer, submit to lenders, and prepare and print lender-specific loan document packages, eliminating the task of forms management and greatly reducing the chances of returned contacts and re-contracting.
